Intellecty CEO Presents at the BlueTech Summit and Tech Expo

Panel Discussion Showcases Water Conservation Technology

San Diego, CA - November 7, 2018 — Emilio Vargas, CEO of Intellecty Inc, presented the water saving benefits of the Intellecty BluView at BlueTech Summit & Tech Expo. The panel discussion entitled 'The Circular Economy of Water' featured discussions by 4 BlueTech executives including Emilio on leak detection, water waste reduction and other water saving technology solutions.

Over 400 water and maritime professionals attended the event that featured presentations from government officials and industry experts from all around the world. The event is part of a week long BlueTech Week that features executive level workshops and seminars on Marine Debris Solutions, Aquaculture/BioMarine, Maritime Robotics, Offshore Renewable Energy, Water Technologies and Workforce Development.

After presenting Emilio said, "I am honored to have presented our product to group of professionals who understand the urgency for water management. The contributions by the panel members were both insightful and inspirational. Knowing that every part of water management has the attention of many makes our efforts at Intellecty that much more rewarding."
